SENATOR Loren Legarda announced last Oct. 19 that she would be running for higher office in 2010 under her own party, the Nationalist People's Coalition.

agreed on the platform and the way to run the campaign.

She said she would make her political plans in 2010 known by the end of the week.

Legarda issued the statement amid speculations that she would run in 2010 as vice president of administration's bet, Defense Secretary Gilbert Teodoro.

"I'm running for higher office, in my political party, with the opposition," Legarda said at a regular forum at the Manila Hotel.

Pressed if she would never run with Teodoro, Legarda said, "Never say never" but quick to say that she would stay with the opposition.

"Malay mo [Teodoro] lumipat siya sa opposition [How do you know, maybe he will transfer to the opposition?]" she said in jest.

The senator hinted that her discussion with partymate, Senator Francis "Chiz" Escudero was almost a done deal.

"Halos malinaw na ang pag-uusap at wala namang problema [Our talk is almost done and there isn't any problem]," she said but refused to say who the NPC's standard-bearer and running mate next year would be.

Legarda reiterated that at this point, it did not matter anymore "who's number one and two" so long as they

Gov't execs running in 2010 seek way to keep post

PRESIDENT Macapagal-Arroyo's election lawyer on Oct. 19 asked the Supreme Court to nullify a Commission on Election resolution that would deem appointed government officials resigned upon the filing of their certificates of candidacy on or before Nov. 30.

In a petition he filed for two Department of Environment and Natural Resources officials, election lawyer Romulo Macalintal said the Comelec committed a grave abuse of discretion in coming up with the provision.

He said the advance filing of COC's under the amended poll automation law was only for the purpose of printing the names of candidates on ballots meant for the precinct count optical scan system to be used in the 2010 elections.

Macalintal said those who would file their COC's on or before Nov. 30 would be considered candidates upon the start of the campaign period in February 2010.

"The law is very clear in that the persons filing in advance their COC's are not yet considered as 'candidate' as of Nov. 30 but will only be considered as such candidates upon the start of the campaign period for which they filed their COC's," Macalintal said.

"Thus if they are not yet candidates as of Nov. 30, how could they be considered as 'candidate' who should be considered as automatically resigned on such date? The better rule is to consider them as candidate only upon the start of the campaign period in February 2010 for national positions and March 2010 for local positions," he added.

Macalintal filed the petition in behalf of DENR undersecretary Eleazar Quinto and director Gerino Tolentino. Quinto is eyeing a congressional seat in Pangasinan while Tolentino is eyeing for councilor in Quezon City.
