What used to be an average bakery is now a full-blown company. Magic Melt started out as a small specialty bakeshop that made creamy, soft and scrumptious ensaymadas five years ago. It began to experiment other products and diversified the production of breads, cookies and pasalubong products. It didn't take long when the company widened their reach and turned to distribution in supermarkets, convenience stores and canteens in its locale of Cebu. In 2005, Magic Melt got incorporated and was named Magic Melt Foods, Inc. (MMFI). Now, MMFI extends its warmth and shares the best of Philippine products with more Filipinos not only within the country but also abroad, with a wide distribution in the United States in key regions where its various distributors are located. In Southern California, Magic Melt cookies and ensaymada are distributed by Asian Commodities.

Magic Melt is definitely a magical offering to Pinoy abroad. Its product offerings are typical Filipino favorites like ensaymada, otap, rosquillos, love and kisses (peanut cookies), mamon tostado, biscocho and others. Each product is embedded with that unique and exotic flavor that everyone has grown to love.
